MORE MOB WORK

Bates, the Wife Murderer, Hanged at Shelbyville.

Six Hundred Angry Citizens Swing Him to a Tree

In the Court House Yard at 10:30 O'clock This Morning.

His Father, Scott Bates, Also Swung Up, But Rescued in Time and Taken Back to Jail.

SHELBYVILLE, TENN., June 27.—[Special].—The horrible murder of Mrs. Bates last Friday, near Shelbyville, was avenged this morning at 10:30 o'clock when 600 men, from Haley and Rowesville, and the country surrounding, assisted by a few Shelbyville citizens, went to the Bedford County jail, forced the Sheriff to surrender the murderer W. B. Bates, dragged him through the streets of the town and hanged him to a tree in the court house yard.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock men from Haley and vicinity began to arrive in Shelbyville, singly and in squads, and it became rumored around that they intended lynching Bates.

The men and boys of Shelbyville began to congregate on the square and about the jail. About 10:30 the mob moved to the jail. They were met at the jail entrance by Sheriff Moore and two deputies, who refused to surrender the prisoner or give up the keys to the jail.

The Sheriff was overpowered, the keys taken from him and the jail entered.

Willing hands among the now howling and excited mob gathered Bates, placed a ready rope about his neck and the mob started for the square.

Pleading and crying, the miserable wretch was dragged through the streets to his doom. In answer to his cries for mercy the men waived their hats, took fresh grip on the rope and shouted.

When the court-house was reached ceremony was dispensed with and Bates was hanged to a tree near the gate.

The mob then went back to the jail and got Scott Bates, the murderer's father, and strung him up, but Shelbyville citizens interfered in time to prevent his death and he was taken back to jail.

Bates, the man who was hanged, was accused of murdering his wife last Friday near Shelbyville, and the evidence against him was convincing of his guilt.

The sentiment in and around Shelbyville is that nothing but justice was done. The mob wore no masks and made no attempt whatever to disguise themselves. It was led by prominent citizens.

AFTER SCOTT BATES.

SHELBYVILLE, June 27.—[Special].—2:30 p. m.—About noon the mob re-assembled, and decided they wanted to hang Scott Bates, the father of the wife murderer. They started to the jail, but Sheriff Moore, anticipating their coming, placed the old man in a spring wagon and started across the country to Murfreesboro.

The mob heard of this and started in pursuit. The Sheriff had about twenty minutes start of the mob. At this hour, the old man's fate is unknown, but may be guessed if he is captured. He was accused of horse stealing.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Irvine Fitzgerald Found Bleeding and Unconscious in the Road.

His Horse Found Hitched a Few Feet Away—Will Be Investigated by the Coroner's Jury.

Irvine Fitzgerald, aged about 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Fitzgerald, was found Saturday afternoon, in the road about two miles from his home on Knob Creek, bleeding and unconscious from a wound in the head.

He was carried to his home and medical aid summoned, but he died in about two hours, never regaining consciousness.

There is an air of mystery surrounding young Fitzgerald's death, which is being investigated by a coroner's jury.

Saturday about noon young Fitzgerald was seen at a store on the creek, in company with a young man named Owens, who is about 23 years old. Fitzgerald was riding a Texas pony. The two left the store together, after taking a drink from a jug of whiskey they had. Further up the creek they stopped to allow their horses to drink and were seen again to drink from the jug. That was the last seen of the young man together.

When the boy was found in the road, he was unconscious from a wound on the head, which might have been caused by a blow from a rock or stick or from falling off the horse.

A coroner's jury was impaneled and an investigation begun. Owen stated to the jury that he and young Fitzgerald separated about two miles from the store. He said he had not ridden far when he was overtaken by Fitzgerald's horse, which was running and riderless. He said he caught the pony and carried it back down the road, but not finding Fitzgerald hitched the horse to a fence and rode on home.

When the boy was found in the road, his horse was found hitched not more than twenty feet away.

One supposition is that Fitzgerald was thrown, or being overcome by drink, fell from his horse and received the fatal injuries. Another supposition is that he might have been attacked by some one and left for dead.

The coroner's jury will continue its investigation next Wednesday.

The remains of young Fitzgerald were interred in the family burying ground yesterday, after services at the residence by Rev. Mr. Gray.

W. C. WHITNEY.

Said to Be Mr. Cleveland's Choice for Chairman.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—The announcement from Washington that ex-Secretary W. C. Whitney is Mr. Cleveland's choice as chairman of the new national committee causes considerable surprise among local democrats, and especially those who were delegates to the Chicago convention, as there had been a general impression that W. F. Harris, of this city, would be chosen for that important position, and that the management of the democratic end of the coming campaign would be directed from the Quaker City. In fact, at Chicago last week Mr. Harris's selection as regarded as a foregone conclusion. He was the unanimous choice of a number of members of the new committee who were interviewed, while several of the Cleveland leaders expressed the opinion that no better selection could be made.

WITH A CRASH

Two Sections of a Passenger Train Come Together.

A Dozen People Killed and Probably Fifty Injured.

Harrisburg the Scene of the Catastrophe.

A Telegraph Operator Alleged to Have Been Responsible for the Accident in Having Given the Wrong Signal—Railroad Men Claim a Blinding Storm Prevented the Danger Signal Being Seen.

HARRISBURG, June 27.—The most fearful wreck which has ever occurred in this city occurred Saturday morning. The first section of the western express which is due here soon after midnight, was flagged below the city because it was very late. The second section came thundering along at the rate of forty-five miles an hour, and dashed into the first section, killing twelve and injuring some fifty.

The engine plowed half through the Westinghouse private car, which is very heavy and strongly built. It in turn telescoped two of the other cars which were filled with passengers. The baggage and express car of the second section was completely demolished, having been crushed through by the tender of Engine No. 13 of the second section. The cars were piled in confusion over all the tracks and forty feet high. The Westinghouse private car, which was attached to the first section, was up-turned and totally demolished.

One of the cars took fire and those in them still alive were panic-stricken. An alarm of fire was sounded and in a few moments the whole department responded and the flames were quenched.

A deluging rain was pouring down, causing those who were injured to suffer intense pain. The engine of the second section telescoped several of the cars of the first section.

Many passengers in the day coaches of the first section were half asleep, and were awakened by the horrible crashing and grinding of timbers, the breaking of glass and the hissing of steam, while others never knew the fate that overtook them.

It was stated at the city hospital Saturday morning that, with probably one or two exceptions, the eighteen passengers who occupy cots at that institution would survive.

For squares the cries of the wounded could be heard, and the scene presented was a heartrending one. One young woman, elegantly attired, and probably eighteen years of age, was pinned down to the track by the truck of one of the cars resting on her body. Her head had been severed from her body. It was over an hour before the body could be removed. She had on her person a gold watch and considerable money.

The mangled bodies were in several instances unrecognizable.

One car had to be jacked up to recover the body of a woman whose head was crushed to a shapeless mass.

A crowd soon gathered and an ambulance carried the wounded to the city hospital. They numbered fifty—men, women and children. Several persons who are injured left the wreck and went to various houses in the vicinity and it is impossible to ascertain the names of all who are missing.

Robert Pitman, of the Pennsylvania railroad, was on the train, but escaped unhurt.

The hospital was a mass of maimed Saturday morning. The city physicians were called out to assist in caring for the injured.

Several Hungarians who live in the vicinity of the accident were busy robbing the dead, but were arrested and locked up.

The only one hurt in the Westinghouse car was the colored waiter named George Woodyear, who is now at the hospital suffering from a cut on his head.

Each section of the train was made up of seven coaches.

The city is filled with wounded, and twelve have already died and several more are lying between life and death.

Many persons who were cut about the hands, head, legs, and other parts of their body went to hotels and various houses, where they receive medical assistance. It is impossible to obtain a complete list of all those injured. A number left on the morning trains for their homes.

What Caused It?

The operator at Steelton is alleged to have been responsible for the accident in having given Engineer Kelly the wrong signal. The sharp curve at Dock street also made the disaster more serious.

It is the impression among railroad men that Engineer Kelly was prevented from seeing the danger signal, which the operator at the Dock street tower claims was shown, in addition to him swinging a red lantern from the veranda of the tower, because of the blinding rainstorm.

A remarkable feature of the wreck is that not a trainhand was seriously hurt. The brakeman of the first section, who went back one hundred yards to signal the looked-for second section, had just returned to his train when the second section came thundering around the curve. Engineer Kelly and his fireman remained at their posts and were unhurt. They, with Baggage Master

Aitken, of the second section, were the first to get out of the wreck.

In less than an hour after the crash occurred one thousand people and the Harrisburg and Middletown wrecking crew, the latter to the number of over one hundred, were on the scene, and by 7 o'clock in the morning the wreckage was all cleared away.

The wrecked cars and the second section locomotive were taken to the Harrisburg shops for repairs.

The railway officials were seemingly paralyzed by the extent of the disaster which is by far the worst the road has known in many years.

CAMPAIGN OPENED.

The Democratic Candidate for Vice President Begins Active Work.

CHICAGO, June 27.—General Adlai E. Stevenson, candidate for vice president of the United States, opened the campaign in parlor "40" of the Palmer House Friday. A great many visitors called, among them General Briggs, of Wisconsin.

To a United Press representative General Stevenson said: "I believe we can carry Illinois for the Democratic ticket this fall. I don't say so because I am on the ticket. With Cleveland and Gray or Cleveland and Boies we could do it. The people are ready for a change and they want to see a return to a government by the people—the old Jeffersonian Democracy."

"Will the campaign open early?" "Well, theoretically the campaign is already opened, but practically, I don't think it will begin before September."

General Stevenson was in receipt of so many congratulatory telegrams that he found it impossible to reply to all of them. He accordingly expressed a desire that the feeling should be taken as his reply to all his well-wishers. "I wish to express my thanks to all those kindly greetings and I express the hope through the press because it would be impossible from a physical standpoint to acknowledge every one personally."

Police Officer Killed.

BUTTE, Mont., June 27.—Police Officer Jordan was shot and instantly killed on his beat in the outskirts of the town at 3:30 o'clock Friday morning. Six shots were fired, four evidently at the officer and two by him. Two shots struck him, one penetrating the heart. It is supposed the officer was arresting two burglars. The murderers escaped. A reward of $5,000 has been ordered by the city.

The Man Is Dead Now.

NEW YORK, June 27.—A Valparaiso special to The Herald says Senator Don Manuel Antonio Matta died Friday of apoplexy while on his way to his home. Senator Matta was the minister of foreign affairs at the time of the attack on the sailors of the Baltimore while in that port, and to him was attributed the inflammatory language used in the circular relating to the affair.

Eaten by Hogs.

TROY, O., June 27.—Clark Stewart, ninety-two years old, was torn by hogs at his home, two miles north of Troy. His shoulder was torn off, his face mutilated and arm stripped of the flesh. He is the oldest settler in this county living. When attacked he was still crunching his bones. He has small chances of recovery.

Was a Morphine Fiend.

BOSTON, June 27.—The body of the young man who committed suicide in Green's hardware store Friday has been identified as that of Charles Roach, aged twenty-three, of St. John, N. B., who for six months past had been a patient at the Washington home, where he was trying to cure himself of the morphine habit.

Drunk and Drowned.

CAMBRIDGE, O., June 27.—Andrew Baker, deaf and dumb, was drowned in Willis creek, two miles below here. Baker, John Hixenbaugh and Olla Gillett, were in a skiff working with a trot line, near the dam at Barnes mill, and the skiff was drawn into a whirlpool under the dam and capsized. Hixenbaugh and Gillett swam ashore. It is reported that the entire party were intoxicated.

CAUSES SURPRISE

To the Thousands Who Visit the World's Fair Site.

The Splendor and Magnitude of the Preparations

For an Exposition Which Will by Far Eclipse Any Ever Held in This or Any Other Country—Thousands Now Visit the Grounds Daily and Pay a Quarter Admission, Too.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The world's fair grounds and buildings, now near completion, are so renowned as a most beautiful and interesting spectacle that not only do from 5,000 to 12,000 people a day, at a cost of twenty-five cents apiece, inspect them, but the great majority of travelers who pass through Chicago devote a day or more to the same purpose. Hundreds of distinguished foreigners and thousands of prominent men from the various states of the Union have availed themselves of this privilege, and it is not exaggeration to say that all, without exception, have been most agreeably surprised at the splendor and magnitude of what they witnessed, and have departed very enthusiastic over the bright prospects of the fair. Several hundred of the returning delegates of the late Republican national convention at Minneapolis inspected the wonders of Jackson park while in Chicago. Nearly all of the delegates to the Democratic convention at Chicago did the same. The exposition authorities have committees to show visitors about and explain details to them.

Turkey's Exhibit.

Those who have been charged with the preparation of the Turkish exhibit are making very extensive preparations to have it of superior merit and interest. They will charter a large ship to transport the exhibit. They will bring over 400 native Turks arrayed in their national costumes. They will reproduce at Chicago a street in Constantinople with all its peculiar crookedness and narrowness and its interesting bazars and restaurants. The bazars will be filled with salable articles of Turkish manufacture. The expedition to Chicago will start from Constantinople and will call at all Turkish ports for reinforcements and articles to be placed on exhibition. Adrianapolis and Philadelphia have caught the fever and will do quite as much as the capital to make the Turkish exhibit a success. The exhibit will include a reproduction in miniature of the Mosque of St. Sophia. This has never been reproduced in any Christian country, and for its reproduction at Chicago special permission of the sultan had to be obtained.

France.

Three world's fair commissioners from France are now in Chicago, to erect and decorate the building which will be the headquarters of France at the fair, and to complete arrangements for installing the French exhibit. They are Baron de Vialar, M. Rene Duboussin and M. Henri Motte. They say that France will have an exhibit unrivaled by that of any other nation and that will eclipse any thing of the kind ever previously undertaken by the French government. They have asked for 200,000 square feet additional space. The French building is to be one of the finest of foreign structures and decorated most artistically under direction of M. Motte, who is a celebrated painter and decorator.

The First Exhibit.

The first exhibit to be taken into the world's fair was received at the custom house Friday. It consisted of thirteen enormous logs containing 1,324,000 feet of lumber. They came from Canada, having been chopped from the great northern pines of that country.

The Indian Exhibit.

The Indian exhibit at the world's fair will include representatives of every tribe from the extreme north to Terra del Fuego.

All Up with Tattoo Hall.

BUNSTON, Tenn., June 27.—There is much excitement in Virginia over the refusal of the court of appeals to grant Talton Hall, the noted outlaw, a new trial. He was convicted at Wise Court House, Va., several months ago for the murder of Policeman Hilton, of Norton, Va., and sentenced to be hanged June 27. Unless news of executive clemency comes before that time he will be executed. Everybody in this section sanctions the action of the supreme court. Many people openly declare that if the law fails to take its course Judge Lynch will step in.

Mormon Bishop Killed by Indians.

FLAGSTAFF, A. T., June 27.—Lot Smith, a Mormon bishop, has been killed near Tuba City by Havaio Indians. He had many quarrels recently relative to his right to pasture his sheep on the Indians' range and it was one of these that resulted in his death. Deceased was prominent during Brigham Young's regime at Salt Lake City.

Accidentally Shot His Brother.

Fatal Fall.

FOSTORIA, O., June 27.—Thomas Jeffers, rig builder, fell from the top of a derrick at Van Buren, and was fearfully bruised, besides having a leg broken in two places. He can not recover.

Artist Oliver Dead.

BOSTON, June 27.—D. Clark Oliver, the marine painter, died at Amesbury Friday, aged sixty-three. Some of his works are widely known, particularly "Kearsarge," copies of which have been made in steel.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS.

A Secretary of State Must Be Appointed by July 4.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—In the guessing that has been going on about the organization of the national committee the vacant secretaryship seems to have been lost sight of for a few days. It was said a few days ago upon the authority of Senator Hisecock that Mr. Chauncey Depew would not accept the portfolio, although it was well known that the president had made him a tender of it. It was given out Friday on the authority of a cabinet officer that Mr. Depew had formally notified the president that he could not accept the position.

Under the law the cabinet position must be filled by July 4, and the president is anxious to make his selection and have it over with, for there are other important appointments awaiting his action. But as anxious as he may be he is not inclined to act hastily. However, it is learned upon authority that can not very well be disputed, that President Harrison's about made up his mind to make a provisional appointment for the remainder of Mr. Blaine's term, and he is wavering between John W. Foster and Colonel John Hay. Whether Mr. Foster would accept or not is a question. Upon him has devolved much of the work in connection with the Bering sea controversy, which is soon to be submitted to arbitration. General Foster has made that matter a special study, is preparing the case on the part of the United States, and if may be that he can not without jeopardizing the cause of the country at this time abandon the case, great as would be the honor attached to the office of secretary of state. However, it is likely that before this time next week the appointment will have been made.

CAPSIZED IN A SQUALL.

Rescued After an Hour—One Lady Dies from Injuries.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The sloop yacht James Carroll, of Keyport, N. J., owned by T. L. Seabrooke, with a party of guests on board, was caught in a squall on Thursday night, in the lower bay, and was capsized. Aboard the yacht, besides the owner, were A. Morris, of Keyport; Mrs. Bella Holmes, who Miss Ellen Rue, both of Hightstown, New Jersey.

The two women were imprisoned in the cabin while the two men were thrown into the bay. The men reached the overturned boat and with great difficulty succeeded in getting the women out of the cabin. The party clung to the capsized boat for nearly an hour, when they were rescued by boatmen from South Beach. Mrs. Holmes, who was severely injured, by falling dashed against the capsized boat, died Friday afternoon. She was fifty years of age.

A LYNCHING BEE.

The Citizens of Independence, Ky., Arranging for One.

CINCINNATI, June 27.—The village of Independence, the county seat of Kenton county, Ky., is terribly excited over an awful crime, that of a father criminally assaulting his own daughter. George Strickland, a former resident of Covington, is the unnatural father, and Emma, his eleven-year-old daughter, is the victim. The awful deed was committed Friday. Strickland made good his escape, and nearly every resident of the village and the farmers for miles around are scouring the surrounding country for him.

Girl Blinded by Lightning.

HAMMOND, Ind., June 27.—During a fearful storm that prevailed here lightning struck the residence of S. C. Allen, tearing out one end of the building, prostrating his nineteen-year-old daughter and rendering her blind for life.

Flopped to Cleveland.

NEW YORK, June 27.—A special to The World from Greencastle, Ind., says that Delano E. Williamson, a life long Republican and once attorney general of Indiana, has declared for Cleveland. He says war taxation should be done away with, and will take the stump for the Chicago nominee.

The Boy Fell Dead.

SPENCER, Ind., June 27.—Albert Tobey, a boy, escaped from the reform school at Plainfield and was discovered at Gosport Friday. Officers attempted to arrest him, but he eluded their grasp and ran. Spirited pursuit was given, and the lad becoming overheated fell dead.
